

THE RACE WAR ENDS
AND MINES STARTSPRING VALLEY TROUBLE IS AT LAST SETTLED.

All the Men Both Black and White, Resumed Their Work This Morning—Town Is Glad the Crisis Has Passed, as They Expected Peace or Bloodshed.

Spring Valley, Ill., Aug. 9.—Both the white and colored miners returned to work this morning and the race war is now ended. This outcome was expected as the American miners had agreed to resume work and give a guarantee of protection to their darker brethren. This compact will be kept in all good faith.

At 9:45 yesterday Major Buckner wired the governor for troops. He said: "You must send troops here at once. The mayor will not furnish any safe protection and the colored people demand that you take this matter in hand."

Mayor Delmagro later wired the governor that order and troops were unnecessary. He was too sick to attend the evening meeting of the city council.

Today settles the whole question. The negroes have returned and will go to work at Shaft 3 in the morning. Then there will be a repetition of rioting or absolute peace. The probabilities are that the Italians will make trouble and get a lesson. The deputies are determined to stand on nonsense, and Daltzell and his men do not know what fear is. With the negroes armed the Italians will be fairly matched. Their wounded countryman, Barney Rolle, is worse and near to death.

Indiana Operators in Line.

Terre Haute, Ind., Aug. 9.—There was another meeting of Indiana bituminous operators yesterday to make more perfect the combination to resist the demand of the miners for the 60-cent rate. At the meeting Tuesday night about 90 per cent of the tonnage of the state was represented, and yesterday practically all the remainder were brought into line, including the operators from along the Vandalia main line and those about Grant. The state has been divided into districts, and each district is to sign its own contract with the miners. The first district is to include the Evansville field and the mines on the Ohio & Mississippi road. The second district is Greene county and some mines near the line of that county. The third district is Sullivan county. The fourth is Vigo and Parke counties and the fifth is Vermillion county, or what has been known as the Clinton district. It was agreed that the operators would no longer have any dealing with the United Mine Workers, but that in each district the men are to be dealt with through committees. It means a determined fight for the 51-cent rate until Oct. 1, and 60 cents from then until next May. The latter phase of the situation is significant, because it indicates that the Indiana operators have not only cut loose from the miners' organization but from the interstate agreement plan as well. The settlement at Pittsburg was on an agreement to have this scale year begin Jan. 1. The Indiana operators say that they have been keeping faith with all sides in the last few years with the result that the state's output has not increased, but that, on the contrary, Indiana coal has been shut out of many markets, while the coal from other fields, mined at prices fixed by the operators has taken its place.

Five Hundred Men Out.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 9.—Five hundred men are now out on strike in this district. Yesterday 150 white and colored ore miners working in the Ruffner mines at Irondale, near here, under the Sloss Iron and Steel company, went out on a strike for an advance in wages. They ask for an increase of 5 cents per ton of coal.

PHILADELPHIA SENSATION.

Revelations of Big Frauds Revised by Senator Quay.

Washington, Aug. 9.—The Philadelphia Lexow committee will begin its work next Saturday. Senator Quay is said to have evidence in his possession strong enough to send to the penitentiary fifty of the men who are fighting him hardest in the Quaker city. The bulk of this evidence relates to frauds in connection with the construction of the new city building, which has already cost $20,000,000, and to the aqueduct and other contracts. It will show how contractors have been obliged for years to make out bills for double the amounts actually earned and pay over the stolen half to members of the ring now clamoring for reform. The evidence consists of the affidavits of implicated contractors, supported by vouchers and all sorts of documentary proofs. The frauds it is in Senator Quay's power to uncover are quite as sensational as the Tweed robberies in New York twenty years ago. They have been carried on for years with brazen effrontery. Philadelphians have known for a long time that they were being robbed in a wholesale way, but they felt powerless to put a stop to the nefarious practices.

ARE NOT IN THE DEAL.

Denial of Story that Rothschilds Are Negotiating for the Anaconda Mines.

New York, Aug. 9.—Several newspapers have announced that the Rothschilds, the well-known financiers of London, were either negotiating or had concluded negotiations for the purchase of the famous Anaconda copper mines of Montana. James B. Higgin, one of the owners of the Anaconda mines, said: "There is not an atom of truth in any statement to the effect that the Rothschilds are negotiating for the purchase of the Anaconda mines. There has been no approach of any kind toward such negotiations." Walter Lutjen, a partner in the firm of August Belmont & Co., Rothschilds' agents in America, also denied the story.

FORTY SAILORS LOST IN A WRECK

Two Boats Collided in Mid Ocean, and Both Went Down.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 9.—The British ship Capao reached here last night with seventeen of the crew of the British steamer Prince Oscar. The latter was in collision July 13 with an unknown ship. Both vessels sunk and forty lives were lost.

The Prince Oscar was from Liverpool and was commanded by Capt. Henderson. It encountered an unknown sailing vessel in mid-ocean July 13, and both ships sunk in less than ten minutes. Six members of the crew of the Prince Oscar and all on board the unknown vessel were lost. The survivors were rescued by the ship Dharwar after being confined in an open boat three days. They were subsequently transferred to the British steamship Capao. The names of the lost are:

WILLIAM KNIGHT, cook, of South Shields.

OSCAR NIELSON, seaman, of Christiania.

E. PETERSON, seaman, of Denmark.

AUGUST CARTON, deck boy, of Ostend.

I. RELAP, of Douglas, Isle of Man.

J. ANDERSON, steward, of Liverpool.

ENTIRE CREW OF THE UNKNOWN VESSEL.

The disaster occurred shortly after midnight in latitude 9:30 south, longitude 28:20 west. The Prince Oscar, which was bound from Shields, was making about six and a half knots an hour, when suddenly directly under her bows a four-masted vessel loomed up.

The mate asserts that the stranger had no lights burning and after she was sighted it was impossible to alter the course of the Prince Oscar. The iron hull of the latter struck the unknown full amidship, knocking her almost on her beam end and crashing through the wood work until her prow was more than half buried. The stranger went over almost on her beam end, as the Prince Oscar backed away from the rebound. As the crew of the Prince Oscar peered through the darkness they saw the stranger partly right herself and then began to rapidly sink.

They listened in vain for some signs of life, but not a cry for help nor a word of command came from the stricken vessel. In less than four minutes from the time she was struck the stranger keeled over and plunged stern first into the depths below. Capt. Henderson of the Prince Oscar, who was below in his berth, rushed on deck just in time to discover that his ship was also sinking.

The pumps were manned, but in less time than it takes to tell it was discovered that there was no hope from that source. Life boats were ordered cut adrift, and the men were told to jump and swim for their lives. They all went overboard and, with the exception of two unfortunate, reached the small boats. Capt. Henderson, who was the last man to leave the ship, went over in his night garments, and swam fully two miles before he was picked up. Both boats hovered about the scene of the wreck until daylight came in an effort to rescue the two missing members of the Prince Oscar's crew and any member of the crew of the stranger who might have been fortunate enough to have kept afloat. They found no one, however, and nothing to indicate the name, home or destination of their companion in misfortune. Finally they left the scene and headed, they know not exactly where.

Twenty-four hours later a heavy sea struck the boat commanded by Mate Lynch and capsized it. The occupants, eight in number, were thrown into the sea, and the already overcrowded craft, which Capt. Henderson commanded, put quickly to the rescue. They were successful in getting four of them aboard. The rest were drowned. There were now seventeen men in the small lifeboat, with nothing to eat, nothing to drink, and barely room to stretch their weary limbs. The sun was broiling hot, and their hunger and thirst were almost unbearable. Toward evening of the second day one of the crew discovered a small cask of fish oil stowed away in the boat. This was dealt out to the survivors in small doses, and they used it to moisten their parched lips and tongues. Most of the men were partially naked, having had no time to secure any clothes before leaving the vessel.

For three days and nights they floated thus on the bosom of the South Atlantic, and just as they were about to abandon hope, they sighted the ship Dharwar from London, bound to Melbourne. They succeeded in attracting the attention of those on board and were soon on her decks.

BRITISH SHIP SUNK.

Only Three Passengers Saved Out of Seventy.

Sydney, N. S. W., Aug. 9.—A boat's crew of Chinese has been landed at Forster, about 100 miles north of this port. The men report that the British steamer Catterthun, 1,406 tons, which sailed from Hong Kong May 27 for Australian ports, was wrecked yesterday evening. The fate of the other members of the crew and the passengers is unknown.

Later in the day details of the wreck of the Catterthun were received here from Forster. The steamship, it appears, was wrecked in the Seal rocks, off Cape Hawk, during a gale. The passengers, who numbered seventy persons, of whom fifty-five were Chinese, were asleep below when the ship grounded. Only three of the European passengers were saved. The others are missing, but it is believed to be possible that they succeeded in taking to the boats and that they were afterwards blown out to sea and may be heard from.

Bloodshed at Marinette.

Marinette, Wis., Aug. 9.—The first blood in the fight between the squatters and mill owners was shed yesterday. Six women, wives of squatters, sallied out to tear down a fence, which had been erected around their homes during the night, and they were attacked by the mill company's crew. A pitched battle ensued and the women were worsted. Four of them were taken from the ground covered with bruises and bleeding. Jack Lundburg and Dick Gorman of the mill company were arrested. The affair is causing great excitement, and crowds of people besiege the squatters' district. The women are all excited now, and refuse to be pacified or listen to advice, and loss of life may result from the affair.

FATAL CRASH AT NEW YORK CITY.

Eight-Story Building in the Course of Construction Collapses.

New York, Aug. 9.—An eight-story building in course of construction at the northeast corner of West Third street and South Fifth avenue fell with a crash yesterday, and a number of the workmen were carried down in the ruins. There men are known to have been killed and several others seriously wounded. The dead and injured are as follows:

CHARLES SMITH, electrician, died at St. Vincent's hospital; his skull was fractured.

JOHN BURKE, laborer, married.

CHARLES E. HENDERSON, electrician.

William Fox, laborer; broken thigh, injured internally.

John Clune, laborer.

James Kelsey, 48 years old, laborer; contusion of back, legs seriously injured.

Cornelius Guider, laborer; scalp wounds and contusions, not seriously injured.

William Frank, laborer; seriously injured.

John Smith; two ribs fractured.

In addition to these a number of workmen are missing, and it may be that they are beneath the debris.

A number of the men who were engaged on the building soon after the accident occurred left the scene. This makes it impossible to tell just how many men are actually missing, and the true number will not be known until these have reported to their foremen. The ruins fill the center of the building with broken timber, twisted iron girders and columns, bricks, laths and plaster. It makes a mound as high as the second floor, and is a mass as dense and hard to handle as a bank of clay. It is said seven men were at work in the cellar directly under the center of the wreck. The building was filled with plasterers, plumbers, electricians, gas-fitters and laborers. Contractor Parker and Foreman Seligman have both been arrested.

The structure was to be an office and warehouse building, the property of John Ireland, real estate dealer. It is supposed that one of the supports in the center of the third floor gave way and let the upper stories fall, crushing the lower floors.

New Division of Veterans.

Lima, O., Aug. 9.—At yesterday's session of the Union Veterans' Union encampment, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee were formed into a new division under command of Gen. Harshbarger. AMERICAN MISSION

ATTACKED BY A MOB

SCHOOL AT TARSUS, ASIA MINOR, IS VISITED.

Many Students Were Maltreated, and the Missioners Were Threatened.—Chapel at Ingkko Looted—Chinese Now Have To Deal with Uncle Sam.

Tarsus, Asia Minor, Aug. 9.—A mob has attacked the American mission school here and maltreated many students, besides threatening the missionaries, but no details have been received.

London, Aug. 9.—Telegrams from Amoy say that all is quiet.

Foo Chow, Chi, Aug. 9.—A mob looted the American mission chapel at Ingkko, fifty miles from here. Unless prompt effective action is taken there is danger of great riots in other places. The Chinese soldiers sent to Ku Cheng to protect foreign property plundered the Stewart residence. No American gunboat has come here. The situation is critical. An official on his way to this city from Ku Cheng was killed yesterday. There is no American protection.

The evidence already obtained shows that the massacre at Hwasang, was planned at least a week beforehand. The foreign consuls have the names of the leaders in it and some of the participants. The night before the massacre a native pastor in Ku Cheng heard the foreigners were going to kill the foreigners on the morrow. He wrote a letter of warning to Mr. Stewart at Hwasang, but delayed sending it until daylight. The messenger arrived half an hour too late. Dr. Gregory was in the city of Ku Cheng at the time, but he was not notified. The foreigners had no suspicion of the intended slaughter.

Big Strikes Probable.

New York, Aug. 9.—Now that the tailors' strike is over, the cloakmakers, who are nearly as numerous, are restless, and strikes in several of the largest factories may take place this month. The "pants" makers, too, are expecting a big strike in a couple of weeks. They drew up an agreement similar to that obtained by the coat makers and presented it to their contractors. Only eleven out of 200 signed it, and 139 refused. They have two weeks in which to change their minds. If they still hold out, 2,000 men and women will strike.

Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court Passes Away.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 9.—Howell E. Jackson, associate justice of the United States Supreme court, died yesterday afternoon. The death was not unexpected, though sudden, as his close friends have known for days that his end was near.

the Supreme court by President Harrison. He was confirmed by the Senate February 18, 1893, and entered upon the duties of the office March 4, 1893.

Judge Jackson was twice married, the first time to Miss Sophia Malloy, daughter of David B. Malloy, a banker of Memphis, who died in 1873. To this union were born four children as follows: Henry, Mary, William H. and Howell Jackson. In 1876 Judge Jackson married Miss Mary E. Harding, daughter of Gen. William G. Harding.

Of this union three children survive—Misses Elizabeth and Louise Jackson and Harding A. Jackson. With the exception of Miss Elizabeth Jackson and William H. Jackson, Jr., who are in Europe, the children were at the bedside when the distinguished sufferer passed away.

THEY FELL IN LOVE AT A DANCE

Morris Deane and Jennie Sherwood Met One Another at Turtle Lake. They first met at a dance at Turtle lake three weeks ago, and it was a case of "love at sight." That tells the story of the late romantic marriage of pretty Jennie Sherwood, of Rock Prairie, and Morris Deane of Delavan. The principal facts in the case have been given by The Gazette but details are now forth coming from the happy young people themselves. In spite of mamma's watchful eye they managed while at the dance to arrange for another meeting. But when Deane went to the girl's home there was war and Morris was glad to escape with his life. Love laughs at indignant mother's wrath as well as locksmiths, and Jennie soon planned to visit her father in Elgin. Deane drove down and Wednesday morning Jennie stepped upon an electric car that carried her to the suburbs of the city where his carriage was in waiting. They drove to McHenry, where they remained over night. In the mean time the time the father heard of his daughter's flight from Jennie's sister and he was white with rage. Securing a team he put out after them, but his anger subsided and he returned home. The next morning the runaways started for Delavan, and while passing Justice Hitchcock's house in Walworth, they drew rein and alighted, where the obliging magistrate performed the marriage ceremony for them and they went straight to Delavan.

PEACHES ARRIVE IN BAD SHAPE

Many Shipment of peaches have come by express today and yesterday from California. They were sent to Janesville people by friends in the west and almost without exception had spoiled on the way.

"It is cheaper and a lot more satisfactory to buy peaches for cash in Janesville than to get them for nothing in California," said one man in disgust as he threw away a bushel of Early Freestones.

WALLS LIKE A ROCK AFTER FIFTY YEARS

S. L. JAMES' BUILDING MAKES PEOPLE STARE.

Janesville Bricks and Lime Have Defied the Elements Since 1843, and Crow-Bar, Pick and Sledge Are Required in the Work of Demolition.

O. L. De Forest calls attention to the good lime and brick used in the S. L. James building now being destroyed at the corner of Main and Court streets. The walls date back to 1843 and Mr. De Forest aptly remarks: "When a wall requires sledge, pick and bar to disintegrate it, you need not hesitate to employ such material in the erection of any buildings requiring solidity and strength. We understand that the new building about to be erected upon this site, will be faced with red pressed brick. We would suggest to the owner that the same be laid in either white or black mortar and finished with oval pointing. With this style of finish a very pleasing effect is obtained.

"Our citizens should not lose sight of the fact that we are still sending abroad for our building material, which means a large outlay even under a moderate demand, and there is only one way to stop it. That is to imitate our predecessors and use the home-made product."

Mr. DeForest is inclined to think that this is an age of clay. Bricks are being fitted to every use. Hollow bricks for building purposes are the latest, giving a warmer and drier dwelling at less expense than with solid walls of like dimensions. Glazed brick and tiling have come to stay and for decorative purposes are unsurpassed. Mr. DeForest thinks the child is born who will see dwellings composed of no other material than the product of clay. This will rob the freeman of his occupation and cut off bills in two.

MOURN FOR ANDREW BARLASS

Caledonians Adopt Resolutions on the Death of Their Late Member.

The following resolutions signed by William Paul, James Shearer and W. B. Proudfoot were adopted by the Rock County Caledonian society:

It is with deepest sorrow and regret that we beg to announce the death of our honored vice-president the Hon. Andrew Barlass, and while we bow in deep submission to "the will of Him who giveth and Him who taketh away," we feel that we cannot let time pass without giving expression to the great sense of loss sustained by the Rock County Caledonian society by his sudden death. He was a regular attendant at all Scottish gatherings, and by his cheerful presence and graceful manner always added to the pleasure of all who attended those gatherings. He had a nature and character that was alike an honor to Scotland and the land of his adoption, and his sterling qualities of heart and mind have left a memory with us that time can hardly erase.

Resolved, That the charter of the society be draped in mourning for the space of sixty days, and that a copy of this resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the society; also that a copy be published in all the local papers and the Scottish American Journal of New York, and the Western British American of Chicago, and that the secretary send a copy to the family of the deceased.

Roosevelt the Man of the Month.

"The man of the month" selected as the subject of the leading character sketch in the August Review of Reviews is Theodore Roosevelt, the intrepid police commissioner of New York City. The writer of the sketch is Julian Ralph, who, as a journalist, has followed closely Mr. Roosevelt's remarkable career since the young Knickerbocker first began to stir up the dry bones in politics as an assemblyman from New York city in the state legislature. The article is in large part based upon an interview which Mr. Ralph had with Mr. Roosevelt, in which the new commissioner told what he considered to be his duty as president of the police board, and what he proposed to do. It is a lively article upon a lively subject, and emphasizes what has long been recognized that the Review of Reviews is quick to note for its readers the important forces which from day to day are making for the progress of the world.

DUCK SHOOTING BEGINS AUG. 20

Discrepancy in the New Game Law Results in This Killing.

A discrepancy has been discovered in the new state law that interests every duck hunter in the state. The question is: Does the open season for hunting ducks commence August 20 or September 12? Until the last few days the general impression prevailed that the latter date was correct as subdivision 6 of section 23 of the state game law says it is unlawful to hunt ducks of any variety between the first day of May and the succeeding first day of September. In plain contradiction of this, subdivision 4 of the same section, says that mallard, teal and wood duck may be hunted between August 20 and December 1. Opinions have been received from State Game Warden Ellerson and Assistant Attorney General Erdall that, in view of the apparent conflict, the earlier date is correct, for the three varieties of duck specified, namely mallard, teal and wood duck. The same provision, however, prohibits the spring hunting of these same varieties, as the open season for them expires December 1.

ANTI-TOXINE FAILS IN LOCAL CASES

JANESVILLE DOCTORS BEGIN TO DISTRUST LYMPH.

The New Treatment Has Been Applied in Nearly Every Case of Diphtheria This Summer, But Results Have Not Been Good—Where Is the Blame?

Anti-toxine is falling into disfavor among local physicians. In nearly every diphtheria case this summer the lymph was tried, but no radical results were noted.

Eli Burgess, who died in La Prairie a few days ago, was treated with anti-toxine under circumstances that were considered especially favorable, but death could not be averted. Little Fred Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Bennett, was injected as soon as the nature of the disease was known, but in vain. Lymph was used on Mrs. Bahr's seventeen-months old child Wednesday night but in that case it was too late when a doctor was called, for any remedy to avail.

Several doctors were interviewed by a Gazette reporter today and agreed that the anti-toxine had not been a success in Janesville practice. Whether this was due to the quality or age of the lymph received they could not say.

"It is nevertheless true" said one physician, "that persons have rallied more or less after the injection but the improvement is not sufficient."

STREET CARS MAKING MONEY.

$100,000 a Month Their Profit, Says a Chicago Paper.

What seems to please Superintendent Proudfoot more than anything else of late, is the fact that the Janesville Street Railway is quoted as making $100,000 a month and many extensions are talked of. This article appeared in the Western Electrician which is supposed to be posted on such deals, but nevertheless, Superintendent Proudfoot was so much pleased with the notice that he wrote to them that if that much was secured in a year he would be satisfied.

An Interview.

A genial bachelor of Brooklyn, whose locks were whitened with the frosts of some fifty winters, was a favorite with the children in the neighborhood of his residence, where they often listened to his pleasant stories. During a brief illness one of his young friends, a little girl of six or seven summers, called to pay her respects. She found him alone, and was greatly surprised to learn, on inquiry, that he had no wife.

She was much distressed at his forlorn condition, and with a sad countenance she left his apartments and hastened to her mother, to whom she exclaimed, in tones of sympathetic emotion: "Mamma, Mr. R— has no wife, and he says he never had one. He must have been born so."—Harper's Bazar.

Food for Superstition.

The conversation turned upon the fatal number, Friday, salt-spilling and other superstitions.

"It is not well to make too much fun of such matters," gravely remarked Brichanteau. "For instance, I had an old uncle who, at the age of seventy-seven, committed the imprudence of making one of a dinner party of thirteen."

"And he died the next day?" Le Ribl inquired.

"No; but exactly thirteen years afterward."

A shudder ran through the audience. —Paris Gaulois.

Whom to Consult.

Doctor (to patient)—What ails you?
Patient—Indeed, I don't know. I only know that I suffer.

"What kind of life do you lead?"

"I work like an ox, I eat like a wolf, I am as tired as a dog and I sleep like a horse."

"In that case I should advise you to consult a veterinary surgeon."—Texas Siftings.

A Different Cord, However.

"I understand the orator moved the people very deeply in his speech while in your section."

To Write Upon the Sea of Agony

Is what people troubled with rheumatic symptoms can fairly expect, if they take no efficient means to check the rapidly growing malady which, it should never be forgotten, has a tendency to attack the heart and terminate life. The testimony, public and professional, is overwhelmingly convincing and concur that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is both a sovereign preventive and curative of rheumatism. It completely expurgates from the blood the acrid principle which, attacking the tissues surrounding the joints and muscles, cause such exquisite pain. The Bitters promotes the action of the kidneys, bladder, stomach and bowels, and remedies malaria, nervousness and debility. It also induces appetite and sound repose, hastens convalescence after exhausting maladies and mitigates the infirmities of age. Take it daily at regular intervals, and confidently expect the best of results.

THE CHINESE ATROCITIES.

The latest advices regarding the murder of missionaries in China show the atrocities to have been of a most barbarous and brutal nature. The unfortunate victims of Chinese superstition and hatred were given no opportunity for defense or for escape. Set upon while asleep by the blood-thirsty murderers, men, women and children were relentlessly put to death, their appeals for mercy making no impression upon the dastardly fiends whose malicious hatred could be satisfied only with the shedding of human blood. The massacre horrible in its details, according to the statement of the American consul at Foo Chow, adds another page to the long record of similar crimes committed since the effort to introduce christianity into China was first begun, and as in every other instance so it will doubtless be in this, the perpetrators will not be punished. The British government whose subjects were murdered, has demanded the punishment of the culprits and of course the Chinese government has given assurance that this will be done, but the methods of that government are such as to discourage the hope that the murderers will receive justice. The destruction of the property of the American mission at Yun Fuh our government will of course demand reparation for and this will undoubtedly be promptly made. The attempt to christianize China has cost many lives and the results thus far cannot be regarded as compensation for the price that has been paid.

UNION IN CENTRAL AMERICA.

There is a strong sentiment in Central American states for a union. The course of the British government toward Nicaragua has convinced the politicians and people of those states that their security depends upon their being able to present a united front against the acts of aggression on the part of European powers, with several of which the Central American countries are liable at any time to become involved in controversies. Even united they would not present a very formidable power, but they would be in a position to command much more respect and consideration than they can separately. United they could maintain a navy adequate for defense, which none of them is now able to do, while there are advantages which would make for the progress and prosperity of those states that union would give.

The people of the United States are heartily in sympathy with the efforts of these little republics to get together under one government, because it would in every way be best for them, and our interests, political and otherwise, are indissolubly connected with theirs.

The statistics of imports for the first quarter of 1895 show a large increase from France, mainly of merinos, cashmeres, silks and miscellaneous dress goods, for which that country is duly thankful, of course, to the party that passed our new tariff law.

People would forget that there was such a man as Debs or that he was confined in the Woodstock jail, were it not for occasional letters that come from his cell and are heavier reading even than the silver debate.

They have killed off enough men in the Cuban dispatches so there can't be more than five or six on each side left to fight.

Kansas legislates against certain noxious weeds not by making an appropriation but by adding to the tax bill.

of the farmer who neglects to cut them down. It is hardly necessary to say that the weeds are disappearing rapidly.

The truth of that Bannock scare is coming to light. A sheriff's posse shot fifteen unarmed Indian prisoners who had been hunting out of season, and then demanded federal aid for fear of the vengeance of the survivors.

Eighty railroads show an average increase in earnings for the third week in July of 5.05 per cent. As this comparison does not include the strike period of 1894, the showing is something remarkable.

As a war it wasn't much—that campaign at Jackson's Hole—but the hole it made in the treasury could be seen with the naked eye for several thousand miles.

It is proposed to burn all the income tax returns. But the democratic party can not get rid of its troublesome record upon the subject in that way.

Wisconsin is nearing the 2,000,000 mark. The new census shows a growth in the leading cities of about 15 per cent.

Manitoba Ready to Fight.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 9.—The declaration of an eastern paper that if Manitoba did not obey the order to restore Roman Catholic parochial schools it would be whipped into submission by force of arms has intensified the bitterness here. The Tribune, the organ of Premier Greenway, in an article headed "The Crisis Approaching" says: "Manitoba will not be whipped into submission to that ridiculous aggregation which supposes it is governing the country. On the contrary, it proposes subjugating that aggregation."

Noted Desperado Captured.

Bentonville, Ark., Aug. 9.—Tom Perry, an ex-member of the Cook gang, a noted desperado and dangerous man, has been captured near Huntsville and landed in the Bentonville jail. It is thought Perry was present at the robbery of the People's bank at this place.

Texas Fever in Kentucky.

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 9.—Gov. Brown has been notified by W. T. Thompson, a farmer of Stedmantown, that cattle in that section are dying from Texas fever. Dr. W. M. Springler, veterinary surgeon, left under the orders of the governor to investigate.

Excitement at Superior, Wis.

Superior, Wis., Aug. 9.—There is great excitement among the coal handlers as the result of four of their number being arrested in Duluth for trespass. A crowd of 200 went over to induce men to quit work, and may yet be successful. The men are embittered by the arrival of a special car with 100 Italian laborers from St. Paul, who are working on the docks. The union has refused all propositions to settle, and will fight for the increase in wages.

Heavy Immigration Deportation.

New York, Aug. 9.—The number of immigrants who arrived in this port since Jan. 1, and have been returned, either because they violated the contract labor law, or who were unable to support themselves, is the largest ever known. It is computed that since Jan. 1, this year, 1,758 immigrants have been deported by the bureau of immigration at Ellis Island.

Saved by a Woman's Nerve.

A woman's nerve saved herself and her husband from death at Middletown, N. Y., the other afternoon. While Mme. Da Coma was riding a bicycle on a wire suspended over the Walkill river her husband sitting on a trapeze hung from the bicycle, the guy wire gave way and the main strand sank twenty feet. Mme. Da Coma remained in her seat and plunged down the loop. The rear wheel left the wire and the front wheel started up the incline. The bicycle saw-sawed several times and finally stopped. When the electric launch came under them the woman climbed down, and her husband, hanging by his feet, lowered her at arm's length and she dropped into the launch. Da Coma also reached the launch without injury.

True Stories of Napoleon.

JOHN ALLEN DYING OF SHEER OLD AGE

LONG A FAMILIAR FIGURE IN JANESVILLE STREETS.

Raid Needed on Wall Street—Butter From Edgerton Creameries Finds Ready Market Here—Base Ball Notes—Bower City News of the Day in Brief Form.

OLD SETTLER DYING—JOHN ALLEN, a familiar figure in Janesville for years, is dying in the county building. The old man—he is seventy-seven years of age—came to this town in an early day. He bought a tract of land near the high school, known by his name and took great delight in entertaining a company of old residents under the trees there once every year. As he grew old his friends were unable to control him and his family made arrangements three years ago to have him placed in Superintendent Allen's care and to pay his board. He has been falling all the summer and in the last three days has grown much worse so that death is a matter of a short time only. Mrs. Allen was called to his side at the first evidence of his collapse and has been with him constantly.

MUSICAL—Professor Harry Arnold, and Mrs. J. F. Sweeney played, and Mrs. Christine Hawley sang at an informal musical given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Arnold last evening. A violin solo by Richard Hardege of Watertown, was looked for but Mr. Hardege was obliged to return home suddenly.

A RUBBER ARM—"I fought at Gettysburg and I lost all the bones in my arm," said a veteran at the St. Paul depot today. Then he twisted his arm into a figure 8, and it came out around a brake rod, and otherwise astonished the spectators before his train pulled out.

We are happy; our stock is paid for; we do not have to make an extra profit to pay interest money, and that should interest every buyer of shoes Brown Bros. & Lincoln.

THERE are several things that interest bargain seekers but we are interested in shoes, because we are in the business, have the stock, bought it cheap and want you to have the benefit. Becker & Woodruff.

A NEW PHRASE—A country girl arrived in the city this morning to work for a first ward family. When told that the place was four blocks away, she asked what the word "block" meant.

We are in the shoe business to stay, and for that reason we use you right every time. We will sew up your shoes if they rip, free of charge, if you buy them of us. Brown Bros. & Lincoln.

UP-RIVER PARTY—A private party was held at Crystal Springs last evening, by a number of young people from this city, for which Tuckwood's orchestra of six pieces furnished the music.

PLAYED AS HE RODE—An old fiddler with violin under his arm jumped the blind baggage for Madison today, and went out of town, sawing away at "Swanee Ribber."

RAID NEEDED—The police were informed this morning by a city official, that a raid on a Wall street house would be a good thing for the neighborhood.

MUST HAVE A PLACE TO KEEP THE ROLLER

NEW MACHINE WILL HAVE TO BE LOOKED AFTER.

E. W. LOWELL Will Sell His River Street Warehouse Property to the City if They Want It—Many Favor Another Fire Station, with Room for the New Machine.

Now that the city has bought a steam roller for street use where will it be kept?

One scheme suggested is the purchase by the city, of the E. W. Lowell warehouse on the racway. The building is directly opposite No. 1 fire station and is on a lot 60x100 feet, while the building is 40x100 feet. The city now owns a building adjoining the fire station in which the engine is now stored and the ground brings a rental of $60 a year. The twenty-foot strip, that is not now occupied by the Lowell property would be ample to accommodate this building and the engine kept therein, while the other end of the unoccupied structure could be fitted up to accommodate the roller.

Move the Fire Department.

This building, it is argued, would accommodate the entire fire apparatus now housed in No. 1 station and would give ample room for the horses, pleasant quarters for the men and plenty of space for storage. Moreover it would give the city the present engine house, for city use and free it from the stable odor that now prevades it.

A city lock-up—and many people seem to favor that idea—could be provided and there would be plenty of room to house the marshals' horse. The city would have, in fact, a police station, if it was wanted and could put the municipal court in the city hall instead of joining with the county to pay $500 rent as at present.

Will Sell Cheap.

"I will sell that property for $1000 less than it is worth," said Mr. Lowell, when asked about the idea this morning, "and that means that it would cost less than $400."

Another plan favored by many is for another fire station some where in the Fifth ward, perhaps near the Five Points, in which a hose wagon and the steam roller could be shown. This station it is thought could be manned by two men, one of whom could be an engineer, capable of running and taking charge of the roller when necessary and doing fireman's duty when not so engaged.

W. F. HAUMERSON DISCHARGED.

Court Ruled That he Did Not Need a License to do Business.

W. F. Hamerson, the butter and egg merchant charged with selling goods from a wagon contrary to the provisions of the new treasury law was dismissed when his case came before Judge Phelps this morning. The court held that Hamerson did not need a license as he was in the business permanently and was not a peddler. E. M. Hyzer appeared for the defendant while District Attorney Jackson conducted the prosecution. Deputy Treasury Agent A. K. Cutts was the complaining witness.

Already forty-seven officers of the army and fifteen civilians have made application for appointment for the vacant place in the corps and more are expected. When Judge Advocate-General Swain was retired, it was stated that General Doe was a candidate for the succession as chief of the corps, but the president selected the senior officer for promotion.

"WILD WEST" BY LOCAL TALENT

Two Janesville Boys Arrange a Performance For Brodhead's Benefit

Something like a Wild West show occurred in Brodhead. Two toughs from Janesville tried to steal a revolver from O'Carina's livery stable. Seeing Marshal Bush they started to run, whereupon the officer fired three shots after them, bringing one to a standstill. The other escaped. WRECK OF THE 125 C. & N. W. TRAIN.

Passenger and Freight Tried To Pass on One Line of Rails and Things Were Badly Mixed Up in Consequence—No Lives Lost—Details Hard To Get.

A rear end collision this morning wrecked the through train on the C. & N. W., that passes through here at 1:15.

No lives were lost but several are reported badly injured. The shock threw passengers about with irresistible violence.

Crashing timbers and hissing steam added to the excitement.

The train is No. 7, which left Chicago last night at 10:30 and passed through Janesville at 1:25.

Its schedule time in Eau Claire was 9 o'clock this morning, but instead of the train there came a dispatch from Fairchild, thirty-two miles below, announcing a wreck.

There had been a rear end collision with a freight, and the track was blocked.

Wrecking trains were dispatched, but few details can be had.

At the Janesville depot it was said that nothing had been heard of the wreck, Fairchild being on another division.

OUT OF DOOR WEAR.

Bicycle Fever—Suitable Dresses—Short Skirts or Bloomers the Thing.

The bicycle fever increases daily in violence, or possibly it is not a fever, but a genuine healthy reaction from sedentary habits, more especially on the part of women. When they could not afford a horse, there has been little inducement for out of door life hitherto, but now the bicycle has changed all that. It does not eat or become fatigued, nor does it cost as much as a good saddle horse in the first place, even at its best. It is not afraid of the cars, nor will it bolt unexpectedly. It does not necessitate a masculine escort, either groom or gentleman, and is altogether an immense alleviation to the lot of the average woman, who frequently needs to have the cobwebs brushed out of her sky by just such pleasurable breeziness of motion as the wheel makes possible.

Long skirts, short skirts, divided skirts, bloomers and even ordinary knee breeches such as men wear are now adopted by women on the bicycle. So many accidents have occurred through the long skirt catching in the wheel or gearing that this garment is the exception rather than the rule, and little comment is excited by the less conventional costumes except among such callow and vulgar striplings as think it manly and knowing to criticize women and would do so whatever the latter wore. It is to be supposed that these unpromising youths serve some good purpose in the economy of nature, useless as they seem to be, but that purpose is not the guarding of feminine propriety of costume evidently, since, like Benedict, "nobody marks them."

The first figure in the picture wears a plaited skirt of red serge and a blouse of white pique closed on the right side under a fold of red linen trimmed with pearl buttons. The cuffs are also of red linen. The second figure wears a one piece gown shirred at the shoulders to form a yoke. It is of ecru mousseline de laine with red stripes. The full sleeves are gathered into a narrow band at the wrist, and a large embroidered collar of nainsook covers the shoulders.

TOILET HINTS.

Rest One Day In Ten as a Preservative of Beauty.

A mature English woman of title, whose rose and white complexion time has not operated upon with the disastrous results that usually attend his processes in the human frame, attributes her youthful freshness to the practice of spending one out of every ten days in bed. She sleeps until she awakens naturally, takes a warm bath and goes back to bed again, where she partakes of a light breakfast, remaining in bed resting until 6 o'clock in the evening, while her maid reads to her a light novel. At 6 o'clock she puts on her dressing robe and has her dinner served in her room and reclines on her sofa until 10 o'clock.

It is to be supposed that not merely physical beauty, but brain and nerves, would be benefited by this regime, especially among American women, who are apt to live at high pressure, with no relief until they break up and collapse like an over-charged toy balloon. However, there are not many American women who feel themselves able to spend a portion of their days as well as a moderate portion of their nights in bed, even for beauty's sake, although they would naturally make more sacrifices on that account than for active brains or sound nerves, just as most of us would rather eat lobster salad and cheese than good, wholesome, oatmeal porridge and beef broth. The days in England are fully twice as long as they are here, and the world consequently does not move so fast. There is time for everything, especially for eating and reposing, and the moist air quells all tendencies toward such a feverish state as is our natural condition over here. Those women who can continue to spend one day every six weeks in bed as a regular thing will doubtless do themselves a great good and therefore indirectly benefit their friends.

The illustration shows a coiffure designed for dark hair. The hair is waved, parted in front and drawn loosely to the back of the head, where it is arranged in an elongated knot. The locks at the side fall over the ears and are held in place by small jeweled combs. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Women as Eaters.

It might be an entertaining thing to expatiate upon the growth of the feminine appetite. A century since a woman was not supposed to care for food, and not Byron alone would have been disgusted at any display of hunger on the part of a sex who, like Malvina Fitz-Allen, seemed to exist merely on strawberries and cream. Nor is the complaint, made only a few years ago, that a woman in a restaurant always called for ices and cakes longer a fact. Women have learned the merits or the necessity of proper food, and it is a sight to do the doctor's heart good to watch their sensible selection of nutritious dishes and their enjoyment of them. This is true even of "the silly age." A group of girls does not linger over fancy desserts, but applies itself to soups and chops and salads. Surely this must count for something in the development physically and mentally of the race.—New York Times.

ABANDONED.

The herons build in plaster dropping rooms, and on the mossy porch the lizard lies; Around the chimney's slow the swallow flies, And on the roof the locusts snow their blooms. Like some sad thought that broods here, old perfumes Haunt the dim stairs. The cautious zephyr tries Each gusty door, like some dead hand, then sighs With ghostly lips among the attic glooms. And now a heron, now a kingfisher, Flits in the willows, where the rattle seems At each faint fall to hesitate to leap, Fluttering the silence with a drowsy stir. When summer seems a placid face asleep And the near world a figment of her dreams. —Madison Cawein in Century.

AN INFANT PRODIGY.

She was the only child of two artistes engaged at one of the boulevard theaters. Slaves to their profession, they had no time to spare for Lucette, who was left to the care of her grandmother, a dear old lady of 60 years, who loved the little "morsel," just opening its eyes on existence, with the strength and fervency of three—father, mother and self. All day long she would play with Lucette, while her son and daughter-in-law were learning their parts or rehearsing their roles at the theater. Poor little Lucette! From her earliest days she had been lulled to sleep by long speeches and awakened by explosions of dramatic wrath. How many times in the apartment of the Vernieres, which looked upon a gloomy court in the Rue de Bondy, had she been startled by the melodramatic voices and extravagant gestures of her parents while repeating "Robert Macaire," "The Wandering Jew," "Thirty Years of an Actor's Life" and other works of the same class. When the Vernieres were "on tour," the grandmother delighted to take Lucette for a day's outing in the suburbs, where the grass was green enough and the trees tall enough to make one think oneself really in the country. "The child needs a breath of fresh air," she would say, and while she sat upon a folding stool, reading with profound attention the journal she had brought with her, Lucette would roll upon the grass in happy innocence, amusing herself with chasing butterflies, pulling flowers or listening to the blackbird whistling in the branches. On these occasions the little white face would glow all over with health and pleasure, while the good old dame, made happy at seeing "her child" looking so much stronger and better, would thank God for her and lie down to rest with a peaceful smile and quiet conscience. When she was 6 years old, Lucette was lively as a kitten and sang like a lark. The grandmother took especial pride in teaching her to repeat passages from Racine and fables from La Fontaine, which the child would recite with a serious air in a voice both musical and impressive. About this period the parents began to bestow more attention on their charming little daughter. One evening at dinner Lucette gave a recitation, and Verniere, listening with his mouth full, cried: "Wife, we must make an artist of this youngster. What's bred in the bone comes out in the flesh. She's in love with the 'boards' already. She'll do." "Not quite a bad idea," said the mother. "Bah!" interposed the grandmother. "There's plenty of time to talk about that. There's!" "Listen, granny. There's no time like the present. Now, in a very short while they're going to put on 'The Old Corporal' at the Theatre du Nord. I'm cast for the principal role, that of Corporal Simon, in which I succeed the great comedian, Frederick Lemaire, but the manager has no one to fill the part of Emmeline, the little girl that Corporal Simon carries perched on his knapsack at the siege of Ulm. Well, if I were to propose Lucette!" "You're a fool," interrupted the old lady, with great energy. "A child of 6 years—delicate, sensitive! You want to kill her perhaps?" "Get along with you. Don't worry yourself with nonsense of that sort, granny. The child will take no harm. She will be with me. It's an opportunity not to be thrown away. She will make respectable acquaintances and at the same time learn her profession. Just leave us alone, and all will go right. The old grandmother had to submit. Fifteen days after Lucette was letter perfect in the short part of Emmeline, and Verniere, having laid his proposal before the manager, brought his daughter down to rehearsal. "She's a prodigy. She'll cram the house," was that astute gentleman's reflection as he watched the performance. At the finish he accepted the offer and lost the bargain. The curtain rose for the first act of "The Old Corporal." It was the camp before Ulm. General Roquebert, whom Napoleon had ordered to "draw the Austrians" in order to mask an important movement of the main army, was condescending to the old veteran, Antoine Simon, the care of his daughter Emmeline. The audience, a most sympathetic and enthusiastic one, had eyes only for Lucette Verniere, the child who impersonated Emmeline. As for Simon, he aged and stormed inwardly at the unhappy fortune which had turned him into a "nursery maid," instead of permitting him to bear a hand in tanning the hides of the "Kaiserliche."

"Don't be afraid. Here, let's play 'pick-a-back.'"

The cannon poured in a broadside. Simon lifted the little girl upon his shoulders and set her on his knapsack, and trembling for the first time in his life, fired his musket, to the great delight of Emmeline, who clapped her hands and shouted gleefully. In due time a company of French troops arrived upon the scene, and amid frantic cheering from the spectators the corporal and his companion are borne off in safety, but General Roquebert has been mortally wounded. He is carried in upon a litter, and in his last agony blesses Emmeline, who is left in charge of the old corporal after a thousand instructions and recommendations necessary to the rest of the piece.

The little innocent, crowing and smiling in the middle of this crowd of soldiery, among all these decorations, this noise and smoke of battle, won a veritable triumph. The public applauded with frenzy, and when some one spoke of her as an "infant prodigy" the phrase was caught up and echoed round the house.

Always "pick a back" on the knapsack of the old corporal, she was "called" three times, and on reaching the wings was immediately hugged and kissed, fêted and fondled and crammed with bonbons and dainties by the ladies of the company.

"That was a capital idea of mine," Verniere had said to himself on signing the engagement of his daughter at the Theatre du Nord, "capital."

For a hundred nights "The Old Corporal" drew crowds to the boulevard, and those unable to get inside remained outside to cheer the "infant prodigy," Lucette Verniere.

All was going merrily. At the end of three months Lucette began to show signs that the strain was telling on her. Her slim figure and pale face were growing slimmer and paler. Her eyes were heavy, her look faded. The grandmother observed the symptoms with alarm. She called the attention of the parents to the child, but Verniere would listen to nothing and contented himself with replying:

"Don't make yourself uneasy about nothing. 'The Old Corporal's' beginning to flutter. We can't keep him going much longer, and after he drops Lucette will have plenty of time to rest."

She was "resting" now, little Lucette.

Resting, with a face whiter than the pillow on which her head lay, a victim to brain fever.

From time to time her wasted little hand would grasp convulsively, as if seized with sudden fear, the long, bony hand of her old grandmother.

Poor old woman, how she suffered to see her darling lying ill, and in a fury of anger she would charge Verniere with sacrificing the child to his vanity.

"You have driven her beyond her strength. You've exhausted all her forces. Maudit!"

The father never replied. He knew that he had done a bad business and desisted from the reproaches his mother heaped upon him.

When Lucette opened her big eyes and fixed them on him, they seemed to reproach him also. They felt like knives in his heart.

One afternoon, after the doctor's departure, Lucette was taken delirious. She sat up in bed, staring about her wildly and crying: "The enemy! Look there! Forward! Vive l'empereur!"

And again:

"General Roquebert is mortally wounded. A doctor—quick—hurry—there's no time to lose!"

They were phrases from "The Old Corporal," which were passing through the fevered brain of the poor child. Verniere and his wife stood at the head of the bed, plunged in an abyss of grief. As for the old grandmother, she could scarcely see for weeping. Her heart was broken.

For a few moments the child remained quiet, and the watchers thought she had fallen asleep, but suddenly starting up "all of a piece," and with an agony of terror lighting up her face:

"The enemy!" she cried, throwing up her arms. "The enemy!"

And she fell back dead.

Three days later the body of the "infant prodigy"—Lucette Verniere—was laid in the cemetery at Pantin. On the coffin was placed a magnificent floral crown, which bore the inscription, "To Lucette Verniere, artiste, from the Theatre du Nord."

The old grandmother was too prostrated to join the funeral procession, but after the sun was down, the figure of the poor old creature might have been seen bending over the still open grave, and her voice heard calling softly, so softly that she seemed afraid it might awaken the little sleeper who lay below: "Lucette, my child; my darling Lucette. It is I. Do you hear me? I am coming to you."

Next morning the gravediggers found upon the grave of the "infant prodigy" the inanimate form of the old grandmother, smiling in death upon her well beloved grandchild Lucette.—From the French.

THE EDUCATION OF PLANTS.

More than a hundred years ago a Jesuit missionary found a certain bark (now called calissay, or cinchona) in use among the tribes of Peru as a cure for fever. This led to the discovery of quinine—its alkaloid and active principle. Originally containing but a very small percent, age of the active principle, the bark of this tree under careful cultivation, yields several times the amount.

By the same method the Shakers of Mt. Lebanon, (N. Y.), have developed, both as to quantity and quality, the medicinal principles of the herbs from which the Shaker Digestive Cordial, their well-known remedy for indigestion and dyspepsia, is now made. They have persuaded nature to do for suffering humanity vastly more than she at first intended. As quinine is without a rival in its own field so this preparation of the Shakers is destined to become, for all the ailments of the digestive tract, now grouped under the general head of dyspepsia.

Some of the symptoms calling for its use are as follows: Distress after eating, sickness and nausea; pains in the head, chest, sides and back; foul taste in the mouth and the rising of an offensive gas from the stomach; costiveness and irregular action of the bowels; variable appetite; sick headache; ringing in the ears; palpitation and heartburn; loss of sleep; the "digests"; a tired and weary feeling; sore muscles, mental depression, etc.

To relieve and cure this universal disease (the source of most others), the Shaker Digestive Cordial is expressly adapted. Like quinine it is a specific, a specific. Its good effects are felt at once. Unlike quinine it is pleasant to the palate, always effective, never harmful. For this the Shakers pledge their reputation as herbalists. And its success thus far bears them out.
